Membership Qualifications and Dues

Professional Members of the National Association of Residential Property Managers (NARPM):

- Must be engaged in management of residential properties as an agent for others and licensed in those states that require licensing
- Agree to abide by the professional and ethical standards of NARPM

Professional Member – $245 – Includes a subscription to the Residential Resource magazine

I am in a state requiring a license, so I have included a copy of my license.

I am not in a state requiring licensing; I hereby certify that all membership requirements are currently being met.

Support Staff Member of National Association of Residential Property Managers (NARPM):

- Must be acting in the role of support in the office of a professional member, and not acting in a capacity requiring licensing.
- Support staff members are non-voting members of NARPM.

Support Staff Member – $100 – Does not include a subscription to the Residential Resource magazine

Dues Note: A full year of membership dues must be paid initially. The fee will be prorated in the second year of membership to reflect the partial first year and be due on January 1 after joining. Dues are nontransferable and nonrefundable.

NARPM dues are not deductible as a charitable contribution for federal tax purposes, but may be deductible as a business expense. Under IRS rules IR-93-55 and notice 93-55, the federal government requires exempt organizations to estimate the percentage of a member's dues utilized for lobbying purposes and not deductible as a business expense. It has been determined that 100% of NARPM dues is deductible as a business expense.

I understand that membership in the National Association of Residential Property Managers is limited to real estate professionals and their support staff. I agree to abide the NARPM Code of Ethics. I affirm that the information contained herein is true and accurate.
